Projects

Brew Masters Project

September 2020

This was a project made with HTML, CSS, Materialize and JavaScript, OpenBreweryDB API and Geolocation API. It was created to find breweries near you. The app takes in the users location via geolocation and displays nearby breweries. It can also take in a name search and display those breweries. Have a favorite one? Just hit the 'Add to Favorites' button and keep all of your favorites in one spot!

Weather App

August 2020

This project was made with HTML, CSS, JavaScript, Open Weather API and Moment.JS . This application takes in the users location via an input and outputs a 5 day weather forecast for that location. The Open Weather API allows access to several types of weather information that can be displayed.

Work Day Scheduler

August 2020

This project was made using HTML, CSS, JavaScript and Moment.JS. This application allows the user to input events or things they have to do for the day. Moment.JS has allowed us to change the color of the event block due to the time of day it is. Once, the event or time has passed, the event block will be grey. If the event is currently happening, the event block will be red. If it is an upcoming event, the event block will be green.
